I was raised a cat lover and Jake is my first dog. He is so amazing. The 1st month I had him, I put him into puppy training. He did not need it. He knew more than the class provided. He is so smart. Sometimes I forget I have a dog and not a kid. I spell out words and he figures them out. He does WHATEVER I ask with a few moans and groans once in a while. As far as loving, he weighs 85lbs but he thinks he is a lap dog. He is a close companion who just wants to be with his family whether it is going for a ride to the grocery store or going for a long run. Every neighbor knows who Jake is and they love him. Children can lie all over him. Strangers just want to pet him and tell me how beautiful he is. I have had individuals who are allergic to dogs; seek me out because they did not have a reaction to him or their kid played with him and had no allergic response. As far as his health, it took me awhile to find the right food for him. Jake had a sensitive stomach, but he has been very healthy. I have come across other labradoodle owners, I have heard complaints about their hair, behavior problems etc... I know they did not purchase their dog from Rutland Manor and some of those owners did not realize this breed of dog is not to be kept in the back room, cage or tied up in a backyard. They are meant to be with the family and part of the family. Jake has given my family, friends, neighbors and strangers great joy and more laughs then I could ever tell you about. He truly is the love of my life!!!
